

Refund Policy

To retain our services, a potential client must enter into a mutually acceptable engagement agreement. This engagement agreement reflects the parties mutual and contractually agreed understanding regarding the payment of legal fees and expenses, including refunds.

In the event that a potential client makes a payment before retaining our services, and either we or the potential client subsequently decline to enter into an engagement agreement consummating the representation, we will refund the entire amount of the payment.